Southside student selected for state music honor

Emily Forman, a senior at Southside High School, has been accepted at the 2009 New York State School Music Association All-State Conference held December 3 to December 6 in Rochester.

Forman was selected to represent Southside High School for this honor from among thousands of student musicians who auditioned throughout the state. Forman will sing as an alto in the mixed chorus group at the organization's concert.

In addition to her involvement in the music program at Southside High School, Forman is a member of the drama club. She plans to major in music in college. A high honor student, she is taking advanced placement courses and is a member of the National Honor Society.
